About IPPS

IPPS is an international association of plant production professionals, including those involved in horticultural research and education. Since IPPS was founded in 1951 our motto 'to seek and to share' remains the core value guiding the Society's activities. IPPS has since broadened into an international forum for sharing plant production knowledge and skills.

Our network offers

- 9 regions worldwide
- Access to international tours
- Exchange programs
- A vast library of horticultural knowledge

Not a member yet? Visit us on www.eur.ipps.org and register today.

European conferences

- ...are the highlight of each year
- ...offer fresh horticultural knowledge
- ...have different locations
- ...connect European horticulturists

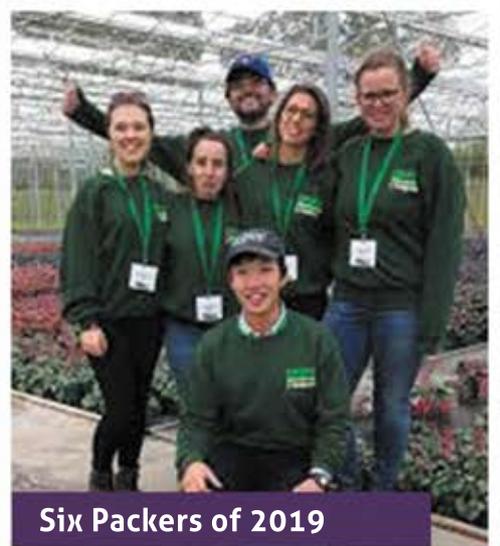

After a break of 2 years, IPPS Europe will resume its annual conferences with a varied programme to be held in Bad Zwischenahn

The Six Packer programme

IPPS Europe will once again be running its Six Packer programme where by six budding new horticulturalists get to experience the conference free of charge. In return the Six Packers help with different aspects of the conference, such as photography, conference registration and audio assistance. Each six packer who attends the conference will be interviewed for the chance to win an exchange program to the Southern region of North America, where they will attend their 2023 conference. Applications are open to anyone new to working in horticulture or studying to enter the horticultural industry. Closing date is 27.05.2022. More info at www.eur.ipps.org.

The 2022 hosting region

Our 2022 hosting region is literally one big nursery. More than 4.000 hectar are managed by 650 nurseries. Growing trees and shrubs is a traditon in north-west Germany. We will get to see modern production sites as well as highly motivated young growers. Use the chance to visit this unique region. More info at www.meineoldenburger.de.
